Richmond, January 21.

Virginia Legislature.

SUBJECT OF A CONVENTION.

Yesterday, the most important measure which has come before the legislature at its present session, was discussed in the house of delegates for more than five hours. Many speeches were delivered; many votes were taken: the ayes and noes were taken times; and finally the house adjourned about five o'clock, without having closed the decision.

The question opened with Mr. Tazewell's renewing his motion to postpone the resolutions of the select committee of the 31st March, and upon the ground, that the legislature had no right to interfere with a convention at all.

Mr. Mercer then rose to answer the objections of Mr Tazewell, which were urged on Wednesday, he took a comprehensive view of the question, expatiating upon the theoretical inequalities as well as practical ills which arose out of the present constitution and justifying the course which the select committee had recommended.

The question was then put on Mr. Tazewell's question of indefinite postponement of the resolutions: in other words to get rid of the whole subject; and lost, ayes 42, noes 96.

Mr. Tazewell rose to say, that the majority having determined against him, he should bow to their decision; and that he would now unite with them in good faith to effect the object they had in view by a course which he deemed the most innocent and palatable, he therefore offered a string of resolutions by way of substitute to those of the select committee —the substance of which was, to nominate a board of 25 of the ablest and sagest men, one from each congressional district, to revise the constitution, suggest amendments and make a report of the same to the ensuing legislature.

Before this question was taken, Mr. Smyth said he should offer an amendment to the original resolutions, so as to obtain the sense of the house, whether the right of voting for delegates to the convention should be confined to Freeholders, he therefore moved to strike out the words "electors qualified to vote by the existing laws," and to substitute "free white male citizens of this commonwealth-upwards of 21 years of age." This proposition was lost, ayes 47, noes 108.

The question recurred on Mr. Tazewell's substitute, which was opposed by Messrs. Doddridge, Smyth and Black, burn: which last gentleman also entered into the question at large, depreciating not only the amendments of Mr. Tazewell, but the original amendment and any attempt whatsoever to change the existing form of government, except the representation in the senate, which he contended could be organized by a law of the legislature, without any change in the constitution.

After which discussion, the question was put on Mr. Tazewell's resolutions; and they were lost, ayes 44, noes 118.

Mr. Tucker then rose to make a proposition, which would try whether the house was in favor of a limited or an unlimited convention—he dwelt at some length upon the defects of the present constitution and insisted on the propriety of giving the convention unlimited powers.

This motion was lost without a division —there being apparently a great majority against it.

Mr. Hunter next moved to put it into the power of the convention "to extend the right of suffrage"—Carried, ayes 79 noes 76.

Several gentleman then rose to make propositions, evidently to explain or modify this last amendment.

Mr. Thompson proposed to add words which should extend the right to those who give a sufficent evidence of a "permanent common interest in, and attachment to the interests of the country.

Mr. King moved to extend the right of suffrage, only on freeholds.

Messrs. Mercer and Colston proposed also amendments, which were not reduced to writing on which we did not so readily catch

While all these amendments were pending a motion was made to adjourn, and carried, ayes 84, noes 71.

January 25.

Yesterday a motion was made in the house of delegates by Mr Mercer, to reconsider the amendment adopted the day before respecting the extension of the right of suffrage, with a view of rescinding that amendment. This motion failed

Mr Thompson (of F) then brought forward an amendment to modify it, so as to confine the suffrage as had evidence of their permanent attachment and a common interest in the community. which was carried.

The first resolution being thus amended was adopted, ayes 108, noes 60

On coming to the second resolution Mr. Tazewell moved to amend it, so as to allow for the slave population in apportioning the number of delegates to be elected to the convention, Lost.

A similar fate attended a motion of Mr. Chamberlayne, viz. to allow so many delegates to each congressional district. This was contended by its opponents to be substantially the same as Mr Tazewell's, because the districts were laid off on the bases of federal numbers.

The second resolution, and I can[illegible] were then respectively agreed to and the whole report was referred to a committee to bring in the necessary bill.

The following are the resolutions as finally amended & agreed to

1. Be it therefore Resolved, That it is expedient at the ensuing general election, for Members of the General assembly, to take the sense of the electors, qualified to vote by the existing laws, whether they are for or against a convention, for the purpose of amending the constitution of this state, so as to equalize the representation in both branches of the legislature, to equalize taxation, to extend the right of suffrage to all who have sufficient evidence of permanent common interest with and attachment to the community and to provide for such future alterations as experience shall suggest.

Second, Resolved, That if a majority of the persons thus qualified to vote at the ensuing General elections, shall appear to be in favor of a convention, the executive shall immediately cause elections to be holden, for members of such convention, in the several congressional districts; each elector so qualified, voting for as many deputies to such convention as shall be equal to one for every thousand of the white white population of such district. The members so elected shall assemble at the city of for the purpose of making the foregoing amendments.

We learn that the senate have struck out all the new Banks, but one at Winchester, probably with branches.

Hunting a Bear.

A letter from Vicosoprano, in the south part of the Canton of the Grisons, gives the following account.

On the 3d September such a quantity of snow fell that the inhabitants were forced to drive back their cattle from the Alps. In the way thither, they met the shepherd of the Alp Aloma, who said that a bear had on the preceding night killed an ox. It was immediately resolved to give it chace. Messengers were dispatched to summon the hunters, and the Baillage of Exbuy was appointed as the rendevous.—Bartolomeo, Maurizo, chief of the corps of hunters, gave orders for surrounding a wood of 2000 square toises, and each took his post assigned. They placed themselves beyond the river Bregaia, and five took their posts at Exbuy at short intervals, and occupied the entrance of a little valley, a cleft between the mountains, through which the bear must pass. Two men, with the shepherd were sent with a drum into the thickest part of the wood. When the animal heard the drum, it advanced towards the valley leading to Exbuy. The first hunter who perceived the bear [illegible] Toen fired and wounded it in the ribs with two balls. The bear turned round with a dreadful roar, and went back into the covert of the wood, a blood flowing profusely. Toen chase one of his bravest companions, Augustus Cruezer, & while they were following the track of the blood they met the shepherd, and now all three followed the track of the blood. After going a few steps they saw the bear. The shepherd too bold, resolved to go and drive him from the thicket. Cruzer dissuaded him, and was for attacking the bear in flank. The shepherd advanced, saying he would drive the bear towards them. He had scarcely left them, when the bear seized him, and tore his face dreadfully. He called for help, his two brave companions ran up, Toen came first, the bear perceived him, let go the shepherd and rushed upon Toen, who wounded him by a second shot, under the eye and broke one of his jaws. The bear rushed upon, and wounded him in one thigh: but Toen dexterously thrust his arm up to the elbow into the bear's jaws, and called to Cruezer [illegible]; Cruezer came up, but could not fire for fear of wounding Toen: at last, however, he succeeded in wounding the bear with two balls between the shoulders. The bear now let Toen go, and rushed, roaring upon Cruizer; the latter, with the butt end of his piece, drove him back two toises, re-loaded his piece, and called to his comrade to [illegible]; but Toen answered, "I cannot, for the wound in the bear's jaws, have disabled me." The bear looked at the two combatants, and then retreated towards Exbuy. Maurizo with one of the hunters, again wounded him, in the shoulder, with two balls, and he fell dead to the ground. The poor shepherd died the following morning.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

January 25.

An infinitely more important measure than the compensation bill ridiculously renewed this day, for the second time occupied the deliberations of the house of representatives. I mean the bill for preventing citizens of the United States from taking up the trade of the Barbary powers against which they so incessantly declaim and becoming themselves pirates—sea thieves and buccaniers. Two parts of this bill have met with considerable opposition——one, that which vests the collectors with powers to stop vessels, laden and equipped in certain suspicious circumstances, from going to sea until the owners give security not to violate the neutrality of the nation—the other interdicting the selling of armed vessels to foreigners. Some again insisted that the old laws were adequate to all the purposes of enforcing that neutrality. The first of these objections was answered by a reference to the act which so exactly defined what was to be considered as grounds of suspicion, that no discretion whatever was left to the collector, for it enacts that the vessel must not only have on board munitions of war, but a number of hands, beyond all possible demand for navigating her. To any and to every man of common sense a vessel laden with munitions of war and carrying out 150 or 200 seamen while ten would be sufficient to navigate her, must appear an object not of suspicion only, but of certainty: the objection therefore was manifestly untenable, particularly in a case where the tranquility and character of the U. S. are so deeply at stake. The second objection, viz. against stopping the sale of vessels of war was rather better founded, but was shivered to atoms by the sound law and reasoning of Hopkinson. And as to the old laws being adequate, the measure now in hand was predicated upon the President's message informing congress that they had been found insufficient. Exclusive of the high warrant of his authority, was it not enough to dismiss every quirk and quibble of that kind, that in spite of every effort on the part of the executive, vessels did every day arm in Baltimore and sail for the purposes of piracy.—Nay, did it not appear as Mr. Randolph said on the trials at Richmond, that pirates from our own ports bearing the flag of a far distant republic which had no existence captured and plundered our own merchant vessels.

The attempt to enlist the feelings of the house for the South Americans, & array them against this law was severely reprobated—and much as I wish success to that oppressed people, (as indeed I should to the people of old Spain in any attempt to shake off the vulture Ferdinand.) I think it had nothing to do in the argument.—Even had those vessels been bona fide engag in aiding the patriots, they ought to be interdicted till our government thought it expedient to aid South America openly; but it is not for the aid of the patriots, nor for any other virtuous purpose, but to procure money by fraud and force, to pirate and stop the honest fair trader, even their own fellow citizens of their property for which they deserve the gallows as much at least as any highway robber that ever was strung up at Tyburn. Invoking the constitution therefore to throw a shield over such miscreants, is to profane that great and glorious charter of our liberties.

Observe me,—when I say they deserve the gallows, I do not mean exclusively those who, if caught in the act of piracy, would suffer the corporal penalties—but, these who sit at home in safety skulking behind those altars of their God, their counting house desks, and talk of honesty in the abstract with the sanctity of priests, and would prosecute to conviction as a thief, the starving wretch who had filched ten dollars from their hoards to feed his children, and who yet send out those crews full stocked on the trade of pillage and of blood, to increase those hoards, in order that they and a brood of upstart aristocrats may wallow deeper in their swinish avarice and ostentation. Large ships cannot be built nor vast armaments equipped by common sailors or petty officers. No; wealthy, swaggering merchants are at the bottom of this sinful, shameful business. And I cannot help thinking it a reproach to the morals of the city where they reside, that men who are known to commit such deeds of turpitude can find any gentlemen to associate with them, or even a bircling clerk to sit in their counting houses.

Another Earth (or Sea) Quake.

The Georgiana, on her passage from Martinique to this port, being in the Gulph Stream, experienced a tremendous shock, occasioned by an Earthquake, which gave great alarm to every person on board, and induced a belief at first that some dreadful accident had befallen the ship. The wind was perfectly still at the time this strange occurrence took place, which was on the 18th inst. while the crew were at breakfast.

By the Enterprize, from St. Domingo, we learn that Admiral Brion's squadron had not sailed from Aux Cayes on the 19th December. The admiral himself had sailed with two vessels of his squadron about the 13th, for some port on the Main, carrying with him General Bolivar, his staff, and a few soldiers, composing the van of his army. The remainder of the squadron, consisting of 10 or 12 sail were to follow with all convenient speed with the main body of Bolivar's army, which was destined for Venezuela. This expedition is said to be very formidable.

Notice.

The public are hereby informed that a Company has been formed under the title of THE QUANTICO WAREHOUSE COMPANY, who have erected one mile below the town of Dumfries, a large and convenient Warehouse on Quantico creek, for the storage of flour, grain, etc. which warehouse will be ready for the reception of produce on Monday the third of Feb. next. The trustees of said Company have appointed Zebulon Kankey their Agent, to attend the said Warehouse, to receive produce on storage and grant receipts for the same. And for the prompt delivery of all articles received in the said warehouse by their agent, (fire alone excepted) the Company hold themselves bound. All persons depositing flour, grain, etc must pay, before taken away, the following storage, viz. For each barrel of flour 6 cents; if it remains in said warehouse one month 8 cents; and in the same proportion for the time it may remain. For each bushel of wheat or other grain two cents; if it remains over one month three cents; and in the same proportion for the time it may remain. And for all articles of merchandise a reasonable storage only will be demanded. Persons storing flour may have it inspected or not, at their option. If not inspected, the agent's receipt will specify the brand and the state of the barrels. The weight of one bushel wheat, running measure, each load or parcel of wheat. All articles stored, the same to be returned to the owner when called for, be it flour, wheat, other grain, etc. Customary allowances for wastage, etc. excepted.

Quantico Warehouse is situated on Quantico Creek only two miles from its junction with the Potomac river, at all times navigable for lighters. There are belonging to this creek a sufficient number of lighters to ensure a brisk transportation down the creek of all articles stored. Vessels may be got to take produce to the district of Columbia Baltimore, Norfolk, or elsewhere. The present freights are—To the district twelve and half cents per barrel of flour, and to Baltimore and Norfolk 25 cents from the mouth of Quantico. The proximity of this warehouse to a large extent of country, added to the goodness of the roads leading to it from the westward, being little inferior to paved ones. It being found by actual survey little more than 25 miles from Hay Market to Dumfries, will, it is confidently believed by the trustees, by this route greatly lessen the expense of transportation of produce even to the district of Columbia, and they pledge themselves to the public to use every means within their power to give satisfaction.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative: and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration, and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly innocent, it contains nothing but what is constitution innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face coated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of chunt *—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the numbers of the infant part of our citizens; likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout asthmatic gout, palsy, lumbagoo, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellant minerals, (the basis of other lotions) and of unparralled efficacy in removing blemishes on the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural, insensible perspiration, which is essential to health, yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Restorative Powder for the teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent inoxication or any other destructive intemperance, the unskilful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in, &c

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

ROBBERY.

On the night of the 6th of December 1816, the Exchange Office of the subscriber, Bridge street, Georgetown, from appearances by a false key, was robbed of the following property, in Specie, consisting of dollars, change, American and English gold, about 200 dollars; bank notes, mostly three dollar notes of the bank of Washington, and some small tickets, together about 30 dollars, a one pound note of the bank of England, and one hundred and sixty four lottery tickets as per numbers below. The lottery tickets can be of no use to the persons taking them, and an attempt to pass them would only lead to a detection, it is therefore hoped that the person or persons who took them, will return them to the subscriber through the Post Office at Georgetown. A liberal Reward will be paid by the subscriber for any information that may lead to the discovery of the persons or a recovery of the property. All keepers of lottery offices in the United States will please to keep a list of the numbers of the following tickets, as it may lead to a discovery of the theft.
